

Year 6

Year six have been busy working on more Greek philosophy. They have made some amazing clay busts to accompany this - we are so impressed with the results. We have also been learning about light in science and children will be undertaking some investigations next week in relation to this. Anti-bullying week has gone well and thank you to all who took the time to dress as heroes - the school was full of them and it was really inspirational.

Parents will know that we track children's attainment and progress very closely in Year 6 and make any adaptations to groupings and the use of teachers to ensure that we are reacting to give the best possible support across the cohort. We're having a small change around next week and Mr Dickson will be taking on Mr Ogle's maths group while Mr Ogle will be joining Mr Prasad and Miss Shaul in their group. If you have any questions, please see Mr Dickson or Mr Ogle. Miss Hung and Miss Bradford will continue with their group as before.
