

Year 3

This week in year three we have been learning about the author of Charlie and the Chocolate Factory: Roald Dahl. We have been researching all about his life so that we can write a biography about him next week. We had to watch a video about him and listen carefully as we watched so that we could make notes. We will use these notes to write our sentences next week.

In extended writing we continued our work on Charlie in the Chocolate Factory by writing shape poems. We wrote shape poems in the shape of a boat to describe the journey along the chocolate river in the chocolate factory. It was a really good chance for us to use lots of exciting language such as adjectives and similes.

During our numeracy lessons we have been focusing on multiplication. We have all learnt new methods of solving multiplication using lots of different resources to help us. We then used our method to solve different problems such as would you rather questions or multiplication investigations.

This week we have also continued our recorder lessons. This was our fourth; we are all getting better at playing the notes in the right place as well as putting the rests in the correct place too!

We are excited to continue our learning next week.
